AMUSEMENTS

CORINNE GRIFFITH IN AN EMOTIONAL ROLE

What American women can do and are doing, is vividly portrayed in the Vitaphone Blue Ribbon feature, "The Girl of Today," which will be seen at the Butler today. The story is by Robert W. Chambers and is a most absorbing romance of the girl who thought her sweetheart was a slacker because he did not wear a uniform. She started in to unmask a supposed scientist she suspected was a German agent, and eventually saved a great city from a gigantic bomb plot, caught the German and rescued her sweetheart just as he was about to be put to death by the spy.

Corinne Griffith is the little heroine, and she is said to have one of the strongest and most appealing roles in her screen career. Of special interest is her work with the mounted constabulary whom she directed from spot to spot where the Germans are about to strike. Miss Griffith has not been seen here in some little time, and it will be like renewing an old acquaintance.

Added to the feature will be "The Son of Democracy" (His Native State), the Abraham Lincoln picture.

Tomorrow, Constance Talmadge in "The Lesson," and look out Friday, for Douglas Fairbanks will be here in "Arizona."
